SENIORS

As the Senior closes another door in the process of learning the realization that many new doors are still to be opened faces him.

His thoughts are mingled with the memories of the past and the expectations and plans for the future.

Soon he will test the value of the knowledge he has acquired during the past four years.

It is now more than ever before aware that he must begin to decide how he will cope with the situation and problems of a rapidly changing world.

May the new doors that he opens possess the same happiness that has followed him throughout his stay at Allegheny.

Allegheny opens new doors; it is for us to aspire dutifully to a purposeful end.

SPORTS

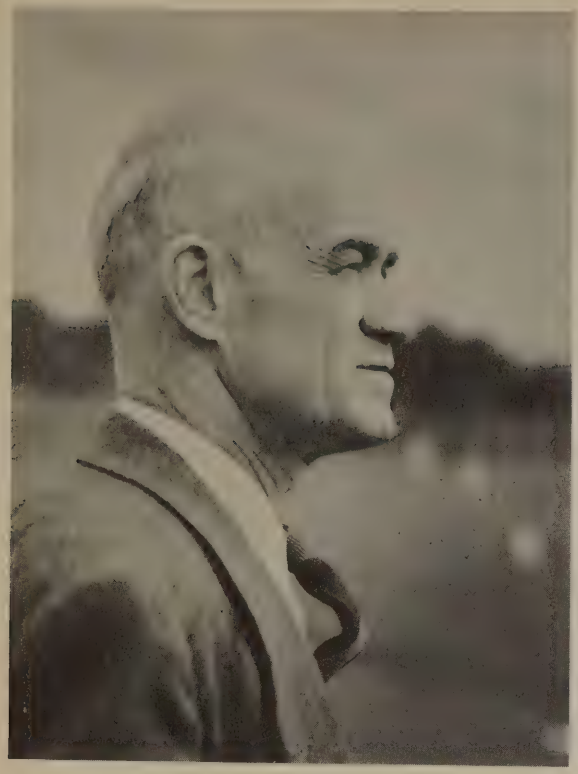
To sports goes the vital job of producing sound physical bodies to coincide with alert, keen minds.

By participating in intercollegiate and intramural activities, the student adds to his character the qualities of sportsmanship and co-operation.

Through the development and training of his special skills, the student not only shows a willingness to serve Allegheny, but also makes valuable use of his leisure time.

The desire for victory is always uppermost in the athlete's mind, but whether he is victorious or defeated, something is gained.

coaches



H. P. Way . . . Allegheny's "grand old man of sports" has been here for 25 years. At present he is the Director of Athletics and coach of tennis. Mister Way graduated from Springfield in 1929, spent a short time at the Lewistown schools, and then came to Allegheny in 1930, and has remained here since then.

William R. Moore, Jr. . . . "Red's" long association with football started in the late 30's when he played for the Rochester, Pa. "Rams." Since then he has been in turn an All-American at Penn State, and an All-Pro player for the Pittsburgh Steelers. Although this is Coach Moore's first year at Allegheny, he has definitely improved the Hilltopper eleven.

Robert Michael Garbark . . . Coach Garbark's long career of professional baseball has given him the necessary qualifications for a top-ranking baseball coach. "Garby" graduated from Allegheny in 1933, and in 1941, returned to his alma mater to transfer his baseball knowledge to Gator diamond teams. He is also head basketball coach.

W. C. Hanson . . . After his graduation from Springfield in 1937, Bill Hanson remained there as a coach, and then entered the Navy in 1941. In 1946 he came to Allegheny as head coach of soccer. He is the coach of Allegheny's consistently victorious Swimming Team. He also coaches football, and is the head coach of track.

Allegheny opened the curtain on the 1954 football season at Wooster, losing to the Ohioans, 31-0. Returning to their home field, the Gators dropped their second straight game, losing to Hobart, 32-7. After the visitors had taken a 7-0 lead in the opening quarter, Don Smith took a kickoff on his own goal line and raced one-hundred yards for Allegheny's first touchdown of the year. However, the New Yorkers could not be stopped as they scored once again in the first half and three more times in the second half for the victory.

The blue and gold suffered its third straight setback of the year at the hands of the Thiel Tomcats. Don Barron ran twelve yards for a touchdown in the second quarter, but once again the second half proved disastrous as Thiel rallied for a 19-6 win.

Allegheny finally stopped its long losing streak of fourteen games with a 19-12 upset over a highly-rated Oberlin eleven in the annual homecoming game. Reed, Barron, and Boyd each scored touchdowns for the Hilltoppers, who were at their season's best.

The Gators dropped their fourth game in the five starts at Grove City. The game was a hard-fought battle all the way and was not decided until the final minutes of play. Boyd scored once and Ryan twice for the Gators, but the home team still won, 25-19.

Allegheny won its second game of the season at Bethany. With thirty seconds remaining in the game, and the Gators trailing by five points, Barron raced for a touchdown and a 25-21 victory.

After giving highly-favored Westminster quite a tussle during the first half, the blue and gold bowed to the Titans at College Field, 40-14. Allegheny traveled to Geneva for the final game of the season, losing 38-0. The loss left the Gators with a season's record of two wins and six losses.

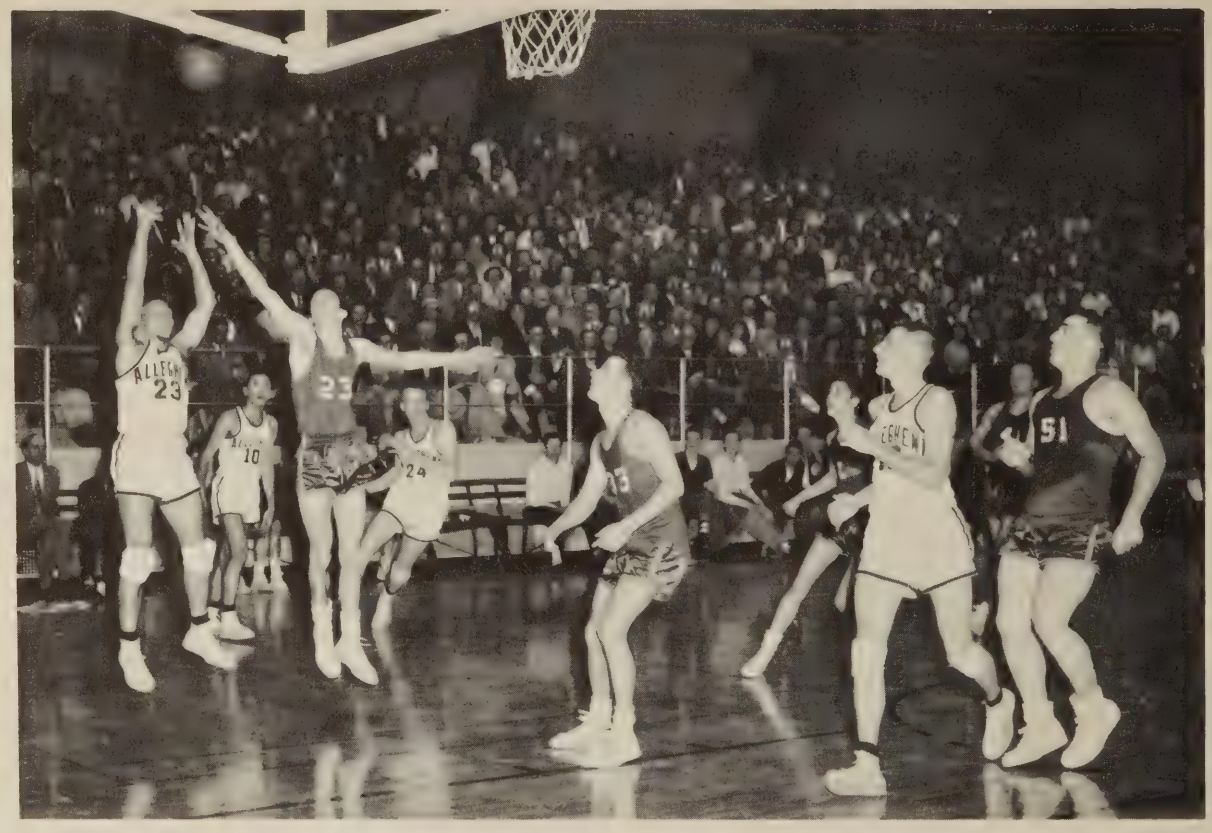
Under Coach Robert Garbark, Allegheny's basketball team compiled a record of 13 wins and 7 losses. During the season four new records were set. Mel Laskoff hit for 37 points against Clarion, setting a new individual scoring record. As a team the Gators set three new marks, 1617 points in one season, 104 points in a single game, and averaged more than 80.85 points per game.

Opening the season on the road, the Gators broke even in their first four games, winning over Edinboro and Thiel, while losing to Wooster and Alliance. With the addition of the new David Meade field house, "big time" basketball came to Allegheny. The Hilltoppers concluded the dedication ceremonies of their new basketball floor with a 79-61 victory over Edinboro. Dick Wigton sank the first field goal and the home team was never behind. Mel Laskoff took scoring honors with 32 points.

The Blue and Gold broke even in their next ten games, coming out on top against Grove City, Alliance, Oberlin, Fenn and Bethany. The losses were at the hands of Gannon, Alfred, Geneva, Hobart and W. & J. On February 22, the Gators sent their fans away screaming by walloping Slippery Rock 104-88. Trailing by two points at the half, the Gators went wild for 61 points and victory in the second half. Bill Bishop sank two fouls to put Allegheny above the 100 mark for the first time in history.

Allegheny finished the season in fine style. Led by the brilliant playing of their star center, Bill Bishop, the Gators scored successive wins over Thiel, Case, Clarion, and Grove City. In the final game of the season the Gators had to come from behind to defeat their rivals from Grove City. Senior Bill Bishop, high man with 33 points, was given a standing ovation that lasted for several minutes, as he walked off the floor for the last time.



Freshman Mel Laskoff sinks a set shot in the first half of the opening game in the new field house. Laskoff scored 32 points as Allegheny came from behind to defeat Edinboro 79-61. Other Gators in the picture are Jim Lauffer, No. 10; Dick Wigton, No. 24; and Bill Bishop, No. 12.

Dick Wigton scores first basket in new David Mead Field House — January 8, 1955.

SOCIETIES

To conform or to be an individual is one problem that is forever facing societies and personalities in today's world.

The value of the Greek letter societies on campus is changing as the world outlook changes.

They do more than give one the feeling of living in a modern world and being ancient.

They unite varying personalities and cement together the bonds of mutual friendship.

They are an integral part of the College Community.

ALPHA CHI OMEGA

Founded on October 15, 1885, at DePauw University

Local Delta Chapter founded in 1891

Located at Brooks Hall Meadville, Penna.

The Alpha Chi's begin the swirl of social activities for the year with their really dreamy "Dream Party." The nostalgic aroma of gardenias floats throughout the fourth floor of Brooks on the night of the occasion. Soon to follow are the spaghetti dinners at the Willows, and a picnic with new pledges at one of the alumna's "country home."

A real highlight of the year is the combined Christmas and Pledge Formal. The red and green colors of Alpha Chi bedeck the fraternity house and blend with the Christmas tree and pine bough decorations.

The girls also have the annual mother's and father's weekend, along with parties, and feeds in the suite. On 'Hera Day, which is celebrated by all Alpha Chi Chapters, the girls take a group of children from Bethesda to the movies.

Nylon and organdy dresses, and black tuxes can be seen at their closing social event — the Spring Formal.

The rose blooms all year round for the Alpha Gamma Deltas. One of the most beautiful events on the Alpha Gam's social calendar is the Feast of Roses Banquet held in November. Pizza parties, fireside discussions, and soon Christmas time arrives, finding the Alpha Gam's in the true holiday spirit — it's intermission of the Christmas formal and "Would you care for some punch" time. Mnnn, latecomers for Sunday breakfast welcome the opportunity offered by the Alpha Gam's for coffee and sweet rolls before church. "I'd like you to meet my mother and dad," is echoed on the special occasion of the Alpha Gam's Parents weekend of entertaining and fun. Flowers are blooming, but inside, at the Alpha Gam's beautiful Spring Formal — such a lovely night is spent dancing to dreamy music. The outdoors is calling, and the Alpha Gam's answer with a Spring picnic, which brings to a close another year — one which the Alpha Gam's will long remember.

MMMMMMM! The fragrant aroma of chili cooking attracts Brooks-ites from the far corners of Walker to Piefer, first floor to fourth floor. Those many hours over the hot stove spent by Alpha Xi Delta cooks are rewarded by the ovations of the guests at the annual Chili Supper. Alleghenians also partake of their gracious hospitality at the Homecoming Dance and May Day Dance open houses. The Alpha Xi's believe in having a real family affair. Mother and father both arrive on campus for Parents' Weekend festivities. Easter-bunny time arrives, and the Alpha Xi's entertain with an Egg Roll for faculty children. "Who forgot to hard boil this batch?!!" The Alpha Xi's really blossom out in spring with their Rose Formal. Guests and dates all arrive in filmy formals, crisp tails, fragrant corsages, and stiff collars. With this final event we leave the Alpha Xi's with rose-scented memories of another wonderful year together.

The Thetas take advantage of the sunny fall days by beginning the year with a picnic at the home of one of their alums. In November their Dads arrive on campus for the annual Father's Weekend. Banquets, pictures, and a breakfast make the affair an enjoyable occasion. Second semester finds them rushing through the dorm begging for old clothes and odds and ends. Yes, they are gathering articles for their Rummage Sale. The money taken in from this venture in the business world is contributed to the Fund Drive. Social events the girls will never forget are the informal feeds and firesides. A fancy ballroom, frilly formals, smooth music, and white dance jackets — what else could it be but the Spring Dinner Dance. This is an evening that will long be remembered by both girls and dates. A picnic and campfire close their festivities for the year. Their glowing faces assure us that "Theta lips will keep smiling."

The Kappas blossom into the social whirl by unlocking their door to guests and alums at their Homecoming Open House. Then follows the Pledge Dance — blue and blue decorations and silhouettes bedeck the Phi Delt house. This blue color theme is not representative of the atmosphere of the party, however, for the girls and escorts are in the gayest of moods. Feeds and firesides always give the girls and opportunity to chat and "brush up" on their Goren. Each semester their Moms and Dads invade the campus to enjoy the festivities for the weekend. Carnival Time finds the Kappas busily selling votes for their Karnival King. What fraternity will come through with the money for their candidate. Under a blanket of midnight blue sky and stars, the girls and dates dancing the hours away at their Spring Dinner Dance. A final picnic, honoring the seniors, finds them reminiscing about the wonderful times they have had in the bonds of the "Sweet blue and blue."

The girls of Theta Upsilon start their entertaining with a tea for the alums. This is a fine time to acquaint their past members with the policies and problems that face sororities today. Then came their dance honoring the foreign students. This function was well received on campus because it gave the students an opportunity to meet fellow students from faraway lands. The decorations for the party were based on an international theme. The TU's do a great deal of entertaining with their sister chapter at Westminster. Many times the girls from Westminster come over to enjoy the hospitality of the chapter on our campus. In the spring they hold their annual parents' weekend, an event which both groups look forward to. What spring season would be complete without a Spring Formal. This is always a highlight of their social year. At the close of school they have a tea honoring the Senior women.

Birds of a feather flock together — that's certainly true of the Chi Rhos — a lively group easily recognized by their garnet and white jackets. Cannibals and bears invaded the Chi Rho Hallowe'en Party and consumed much of the cider and doughnuts. A change of atmosphere was seen as the Chi Rho House was transformed by the yuletide spirit into a Christmas wonderland, with pine boughs, jolly Santas, and favors on the giant Christmas tree. Added to this formal event and completing the holiday season, the Chi Rhos entertained dates with a delicious turkey dinner before the All-College Formal. The AXP in daffodils welcomes the Chi Rho mothers on their special weekend in the Spring. In keeping with the weather, we find the Crows enjoying hotdogs and pop at their annual May picnic. The last and most memorable event on the Chi Rho's social calendar is the Spring Dinner-Dance—an appropriate occasion to round out a successful year.

It certainly is not hard to recognize the members of Delta Tau Delta on campus. Their blue and gold jackets catch everyone's eye immediately. This fall, they took advantage of a big harvest moon and squired their dates on an enjoyable, yet rather bumpy hayride. Maybe someone will watch out for the tires next year! Next followed their tea honoring the Freshmen women. What a thrill for the girls in Calflisch to receive their own personal invitation. During the Christmas season they really put on a show. For their Christmas formal the house was decorated from top to bottom with pine boughs and Christmas greens. A doorman with black tail and white gloves, greeted all, and the wonderful good certainly made an impression on the minds of the coeds. With the coming of May, they held their annual Spring Formal. At the close, the boys gathered round in a "toast to dear old Delta Tau," and many happy memories.

Early in the school year the faculty makes its annual invasion of the Phi Delta Theta house, apparently eager to be "buttered up" at the Apple Polishing Party. Left-over apple cores are replaced by pine boughs, as the Christmas season takes top billing. Pine-scented rooms and soft blue lights make for the mood at the Christmas formal. On the following Sunday, Juniors and Seniors honor each other at the Ginch Dinner. Their brotherly affections are demonstrated through use of poems and gifts. Duffy and his interesting and assorted friends arrive on the scene during second semester with the Duffy's Tavern Dance. Coke-filled beer bottles become the latest decorative touch. With spring's arrival, the Phi Delts take to the out-doors, keeping up with the season by holding a Lawn Party honoring the May Queen and her Court. As the 1954-55 school year draws to a close, you can hear the Phi Delts, camped behind the stone wall, singing a last rousing chorus of "A roving crew of Phis are we, yaho, yaho, yaho."

"Don't forget those Fiji Boys, Fiji Boys, Fiji Boys," is an ever resounding cry of this fraternity on campus. They set the social pace with their annual Poverty Ball. What an elite crowd shows up at this party; everyone from the Duke and Duchess of Lushwell to the Couple of Swells from Thoid Avenue. Another attraction of the Fiji boys that the coeds will never forget is one of their heart-rending serenades. Boom! Goes the cannon, and with shouts and yells, the Fiji Boys come racing down Brooks Drive, led by the four white mystics and the Pi flag. The highlight of the year is the Fiji Island Party. Sarongs, grass skirts, and other South Sea type costumes are appropriate attire for this affair. The fraternity house that is decorated with a fishpond, tropical vegetation, and cool, mellow refreshment reminds you of a visit to some tropical island. And so with this picture in mind we bid farewell to Fiji land — never wanting to forget "those Fiji Boys."

This year the Phi Psis can be extra proud of their fraternity. It has been one of the top-ranking Greek organizations on campus for 100 years — yes this is the Phi Kappa Psi Centennial. In the fall they start the festivities with a Harvest Party. Pumpkins and corn stocks are the main decorations with Farmer Jones' best applejack as the chief refreshment. Many a girl in Brooks has a jack-o-lantern in her window after this party. Of course the Phi Psis have their teas, formals, and parents' weekends too, but in March one would think that Omar, the Tentmaker, had pledged Phi Psi. Flames leap from large black caldrons at the entrance of these striped tents; coeds in costumes from "A Thousand and One Nights" entertain their sheiks for the evening—what else could it be but the Harem Party. The Spring Dinner Dance is the final event on their calendar. May "that dear beloved throng" still gather in the Phi Psi house many years from now.

The Sigs started their entertaining this fall with a tea at which they proudly introduced their new house mother. What a fortunate group to have a woman watching over them. The men then held a picnic for the children from Bethesda. Guess quite a few of the boys had sore backs by the end of the day — piggy-back, anyone?

Going artistic—a fall highlight was their annual Beaux Arts Ball. Black and white provided the color decor for this unique party. The most fantastic costumes were seen, anything from a pair of dice to a bath shower with running water. With the coming of spring the Sigs kept a special watch on their white lions. Too many times they have been given a coat of blue or red paint. On a clear starry night the house was found all aglow, and soft music floated from the open windows. It was their final social event for the year — the Spring Formal.

Theta Chi really goes in for large-scale entertaining — on the installment plan! Each section of Caflisch is invited to the Theta Chi house for a good square, home-cooked meal. Could there be a method in this madness???? It's fall, and the swinging doors are hung out for the campus-reknown Bowery Brawl. Spicy decorations set the scene. Assorted Bowery bums and French apache dancers are on hand to populate the occasion, held in the underground hideaway of the Theta Chis.

With spring's arrival, the Theta Chi's unload their piggy banks for the long-remembered splendor of the Orchid formal. The problem of spring planting and lawn cutting should not bother the Theta Chis this year. Big plans are underway for the construction of a new fraternity house up on the hill. With the front lawn excavation progressing, the boys had better watch out for the Meadville monsoon season — mud will ruin a good carpet.

The gold "58" on the blue of our dinks united us, the incoming freshman class, and made us aware of our class spirit. We took our places amid the ranks of Allegheny's sons and daughters, realizing how similar we were to those preceding graduates and yet how different we were. We were the first freshmen to have sample classes during Orientation Week. Our class caused a flurry in Sophomore Court due to our rebellion against the wearing of dinks and name cards. We freshmen were the first to view the autumn scenes from the new dormitory, Baldwin Hall. Looking toward the future with the hope of many more "firsts," may we ever strive to prove ourselves worthy to be called Alleghenians.

College life for an Alleghenian signifies more than just bluebooks and term papers.

Here, a sound emphasis is placed on the role the student plays in the extra-curricular activities.

Through these numerous and diversified organizations on campus, the Allegheny student can project his individuality and personality.

His talent and self-expression become evident in dramatics, debate, music, and publications.

By participating in these extra-curricular activities, the student not only renders a service to Allegheny, but also develops his mind so that he can view broader horizons.

BLOCK A . . . The Allegheny Block A Club honors those men who have been outstanding in their respective fields of sport. This organization is responsible for ushering at college athletic events. The Block A also satisfies thirsty throats by managing a refreshment stand during the half time period of home football games.

Morten J. Luvaas has brought distinction and honor to Allegheny College during his twenty-five years of loyal service. The Allegheny Singers stand as a tangible monument to his ability to train youthful voices and to mold them into an outstanding choir. Dr. Luvaas has also written excellent arrangements of many musical works, which the college has had the privilege of hearing. Allegheny may be justly proud of one of her most creative and dynamic individuals.

Allegheny Singers provides a fine opportunity for a musically gifted student to develop his talent and to work for the betterment of the college. It has proven to be an excellent device for the outlet of creative energy through constructive channels. The choir has aided the promotion of an interest in music among the student body. The several concerts that are held each year are always heavily attended. The Singers have also been responsible for the attraction for many future college students to Allegheny. Dr. Morten J. Luvaas deserves great recognition as an outstanding contributor to the benefit of the college community as well as to the world of music.

The Playshop opened its fall season with the sparkling production of "Kiss Me Kate." This modern musical version of Shakespeare's "Taming of the Shrew" thrilled both the students and townpeople.

A congenial group of students, faculty, and professional artists combined both talent and long hours of hard work in order to make the production a success.

On opening night, a glittering array of costumes and scenery bedecked the stage. Rhythmic coeds danced to the fast and slow tempo of many familiar songs from the show.

Alma Alt starred as Kate, the tempestuous shrew, and W. S. Wright North portrayed the role of Petruchio, her domineering and taming suitor.

The outside talent of Bette Oliver and Hank Nystrom added the professional touch to the brilliant musical directed by Bill Walton.

With the fine appraisal of this musical as a start, the Playshop can be assured of a very promising and successful season.

ADMINISTRATION

Upward and onward into academic supremacy Allegheny has risen through the inspired and sound guidance of her faculty and administration.

To this group the students owe the integration of the past and the immediacy of the present.

They provide the facts, ideas and ideals that are engraved on the receptive minds of the students.

Because of this character and intellectual courage the vitality of Allegheny has remained keen and alive.

Their critical and inquiring minds have given the students the necessary incentive to ever search for higher truths.

Congratulations to the Class of 1955 from 8500 Allegheny Alumni

Many of our students at Allegheny are not acquainted with the operation of the Alumni Office or the activities of the Allegheny Alumni Association. The Kaldron Staff hopes that the summary on this page will not only serve as a guide to graduating seniors but also will give the whole student body an idea of Allegheny activities carried on after graduation.

The Allegheny Alumni Association consists of 8500 graduates and former students. It is governed by an Alumni Council of 21 members and has a President, Vice-President and Secretary. The Council and officers meet at the College twice a year to transact business matters, and all alumni are invited to the campus each year at Commencement time for the annual Association meeting.

The Alumni Office and the Alumni Association sponsor many activities to maintain support of the College and to help Allegheny friends strengthen their own contacts as time passes. The Alumni Bulletin is mailed to every Alleghenian three times each year. Alumni Clubs meet in various places each year to strengthen area social ties. In 1955 meetings were held in Albuquerque, Buffalo, Butler, Chicago, Cleveland, Corning, N. Y., Denver, Erie, Jamestown, Kansas City, Los Angeles, Boston, New York, Waynesburg, Pa., Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Rochester, San Francisco, Sharon, St. Louis, Syracuse, Tucson, Washington, D. C., and Westport, Conn. They were all attended by a representative of the College.

The Alumni Association also sponsors the Alumni Fund, an annual program of alumni contributions to Allegheny for current yearly expenses. Over 670 Alumni actively worked for the fund in 1955 and thousands more contributed to it.

Other activities include class reunions every five years, the Homecoming Celebration, the Alumni Admissions program and various area events.

The purpose of Allegheny's alumni program is, of course, to give the College the continual support of 8500 people who have a real interest in her future. But perhaps even more than that, it is to show her graduates that the College will remain an inspiration in their lives forever.

It takes perspiration, education and imagination to penetrate scientific, social and economic frontiers. In the dynamic, expanding industrial economy of America, there is plenty of room for college graduates who can combine these three essentials.

American Viscose Corporation, America's first producer of man-made fibers, has welcomed many Allegheny College graduates to its staff of highly skilled technicians. American Viscose Corporation also maintains a number of scholarships in leading Colleges and Universities, including Allegheny College, to assist qualified students who are majoring in technical subjects.

In America's free, competitive industrial system there is a permanent challenge to improve, to innovate, to create, to produce. College graduates who meet this challenge can look forward to successful, satisfying careers.

This colophon in a fine yearbook says not just "We will do"

-BUT "WE HAVE DONE"

We have enjoyed working with you on this, your 1955 yearbook.
You have had our promise of an excellent publication.
You have in your hand our performance.
We hope you are well pleased.

Above, an old colophon and inside it a comparatively new one, signifying the spirit of Campus—progression based on tradition.
